

I see no possible benefit from this proposed requirement that would offset the additional cost and effort required to implement it.

I also see many situations that would not be covered. For example, if I owned a radio that cost me $100 and needed $200 in repairs (not uncommon) how would I certify I destroyed or disposed of it?

Please reject this proposal.